THE TREATY WITH CANADA

IT REMAINS IN POSSESSION OF PRESIDENT CLEVELAND.

He Will Send it to the Senate With an Accompanying Message—Various Stipulations of the Treaty—It is Principally Confined to Canadian Waters.

New York, Feb. 18.—A Washington special to the Tribune says that the new fisheries treaty still remains in the possession of the president. His failure to send it to the senate yesterday is explained, on the ground that he desires to accompany it by a message, which will fully explain the several features of the treaty, and practically amount to a plea in its behalf.

The treaty prohibits in the most explicit terms, as already indicated in these dispatches, the purchase of bait by our fishermen. It is true that the latter have often proclaimed that they did not care for the privilege, if to pay for what you buy can be called a privilege. Still, it is yielding this point to the Canadians that they continue to refuse to extend to Americans full commercial intercourse granted to other nations.

How Mr. Bayard will explain this surrender does not seem quite clear at present, though it is supposed that he will say as Mr. Chamberlain is reported as saying: "You can't expect to get everything you demanded. You must be prepared to yield something else this would not be negotiating. Compromise would be at an end. It would amount for one party at least to abject and disgraceful surrender."

In order, therefore, to give, as it were, a peg to Mr. Chamberlain upon which to hang his explanation of the advantages likely to be reaped by Canada by the agreement Mr. Bayard yielded, the question of the right of our fishermen to buy bait.

Another point surrendered by Mr. Bayard is believed to have been the complete exclusion of American fishermen from certain bays and inlets, specifically named in the treaty. These bays and inlets are such, however, that they would, without offering any special advantage to our fishermen except, perhaps, as places of refuge in the case of a storm, have involved American fishermen in endless controversies with the Canadian authorities over a proper interpretation of the so-called three-mile limit. This interpretation of the three-mile limit and the headland theory form, probably, the most important feature of the treaty.

Its principal point is that it is strictly confined to Canadian waters and those of the maritime provinces, and does not extend to any other territory under the jurisdiction of either country.

Such a change was rendered necessary in order to guard our rights in Chesapeake bay, which for obvious reasons might have been endangered by an omnibus interpretation of the three-mile limit clause, either in this or any other treaty.

HOW CANADA LIKES IT.

A Montreal Paper Says Canada Might as Well Join United States.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—The Post boldly declares that Canada might as well join the United States, as to submit to be constantly sacrificed by England. In the former case Canada would share in the benefits of the growth of the United States. At present she suffers by it.

People of Ottawa Disgusted.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 18.—The news of the adoption of the fishery treaty is received with great disgust here. It is declared that Canada has given up everything and received nothing.

OHIO LEGISLATURE.

The Senate Rushes Things for a Few Hours and Adjourns Till Monday.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 18.—The senate took an unusual spasm of industry this morning and transacted three days' business in the three hours it was in session. It adjourned for the fault, however, by adjourning until 4 o'clock next Monday.

Senator Massie's resolution providing for the appointment of two senators and three representatives to examine into the needs for a revision of the present tax system was passed.

Bills were introduced as follows: Amending Section 2939 so that "Persons who shall travel from place to place about the city to sell or solicit orders for goods at retail," must have a license. This is aimed at book and picture agents and such.

A bill was introduced providing that witnesses detained shall not be continued with criminals; also, a sidewalk bill by Mr. Taylor, of Cuyahoga county, empowering cities to compel property owners to improve sidewalks; failing to do which within ten days after notice, the city shall have the improvement made and charge the expense against the property.

The senate refusing to agree to amendments to the bill providing for a commission to investigate and report upon a water supply for Cincinnati, and a conference committee consisting of Brown, Cowgill and Hoffman, was appointed to confer with a house committee.

The only action taken by the house was to pass Outcalt's bill allowing the Hamilton county commissioners $1,000 a year for expenses.

She Should Know.

SOMERSET, O., Feb. 18.—Mrs. Sheridan, mother of Gen. Philip Sheridan, has no certificate of his birth. There was one, but it was destroyed by fire a number of years ago. The only statement Mrs. Sheridan has made is that her son, Gen. Philip Sheridan, was born in Somerset, O., March 6, 1831. If conflicting stories are told as coming from her they are not correct. It is just learned from her that he was baptized by the Rev. Dominick Young, deceased, on the 17th day of March, 1831.

Senate's Secret Work.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The senate has recently been considering in secret session the nomination of J. Lawrence Rathbone, of San Francisco, to be consul general at Paris, whose nomination was sent in December 12. Mr. Morgan is said to be opposed to the confirmation, on the ground of removals made by Mr. Rathbone since assuming the duties of the position.

CARTER H. HARRISON.

He is the First Delegate Named for Either of the National Conventions.

CARTER H. HARRISON.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Carter Harrison, although "out of politics" and on a tour around the world, is not forgotten by the politicians, nor has the ex-mayor forgotten the pleasures and excitement of a campaign in a presidential year. He will be in Chicago before the Democratic National convention meets, and he will be one of the delegates at large from Illinois. He is the first delegate of either party to be publicly named.

NEW ALBANY "WILLOW-WIELDERS."

An Organization to Punish Wife-Beaters and Drunken Husbands.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Feb. 18.—An organization of citizens has been formed in this city for the purpose of punishing wife-beaters and drunken husbands who neglect to properly support their wives and provide for their children. This organization is known by the name of the "Willow-Wielders."

A few nights ago they left a bunch of willows and a note of warning on the doorstep of the residence of Tom Briggs, who has been cruelly treating and grossly neglecting his family, and the whipping of the trifling fellow is likely to occur any night.

Wednesday night they went to the room of a man named Newton Walker, who recently deserted his wife and six children, leaving them in destitution, while he lives well and has hired rooms, and left a bundle of willow switches at his door with a note of warning, giving him ten days in which to return and care for his family with the threat of lifting his cuticle if he refused to do so. He will either care for his family or leave the city, as he is so badly frightened.

Another man received a notice of warning which so frightened him that he went immediately and sought religion at a revival meeting, joined the church, and is doing well in caring for his previously-neglected wife and children.

A Dealer in "the Queer."

WABASH, Ind., Feb. 18.—On Wednesday Constable Livers arrested Edward Higgins, a well known young man, on a charge of passing counterfeit money. A considerable quantity of imitation dollars and half dollars were found on his person, but the counterfeit was of the crudest nature. Last week Higgins pawned his wife's gold breastpin for $1 to a railroad man. Yesterday he attempted to redeem the article with a "queer" dollar, when the fraud was detected and Higgins pulled. He confessed to having gotten away with a large amount of the stuff. It is believed that he is the stool-pigeon of an organized band of counterfeiters in the vicinity of Mrs. Higgins' premises, to make some sensational disclosures. The prisoner was taken to Indianapolis to-day by a deputy United States marshal.

A Lottery Raided.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—The police yesterday raided what is known as the American Lottery company, but which is conducted by Chinese. The entire operating force of the company was secured. The company is estimated to be worth from $100,000 to $500,000, and does a business estimated at from $10,000 to $20,000.

New Industry for Mississippi.

WEST POINT, Miss., Feb. 18.—Mahaff & Sturtevant, of Kansas, have made arrangements to move their entire plant to this place. They have contracted to have their works in operation by the 1st of June. This will be the first factory ever established in Mississippi. Immigrants are pouring into this section from the northwest.

An Error in New Jersey's Constitution.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 18.—It is stated that an error has been discovered in the state constitution adopted in 1875, whereby all the acts of courts of common pleas since that date, are null and void as those courts were intended to be abolished by the constitution. The discovery causes much agitation and may have serious consequences.

Salt Lake Land Jumpers Fired.

SALT LAKE, Feb. 18.—The police have forcibly dispossessed the squatters on valuable land claimed by the city, and tore down the buildings that had been erected. The squatters will appeal to the United States marshal, as they claim that the title to the land has never passed from the people.

Horse Thief Captured and Jailed.

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky., Feb. 18.—John Beard, a night watchman, arrested John Wilson on suspicion of having stolen a horse from Dr. Charles Herr, of Lexington. The horse was abandoned and found. Wilson waived examination and was sent to jail to await the circuit court.

Breen to Contest Seymour's Election.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 18.—Bartley Breen, the Democratic candidate for congress in the Eleventh district, in an interview, to-day, says he will contest, on the ground of fraud and the interference of mining and lumber companies. He says the Knights of Labor also demand a contest.

Foraker Makes Three Appointments.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 18.—The governor appointed and the senate confirmed Silas A. Conrad, of Stark county, as trustee of the imbecile asylum; Thomas Dill, of Mansfield, as trustee of the soldiers' and sailors' home, and George B. Cox, of Cincinnati, as oil inspector.

SLOWLY RESUMING WORK.

THE CINCINNATI SHOEMAKERS' LOCK-OUT BROKEN.

Work Resumed in Four Factories—Another Assembly Suspended—The Whole Reading Strike Likely to Be Declared Off in a Few Days—Labor Troubles.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 18.—Early this morning the shoemakers began collecting in large groups in the neighborhood of Blacker's and Krippendorf's shoe factories. Several hundred congregated by 9 o'clock, but the crowd was quiet and orderly.

Last night a like crowd collected in front of Blacker's, at the closing hour. The proprietors telephoned for the police, but there was no need of the officers when they arrived.

At Blacker's, about one hundred and fifty hands are said to be at work. Occasionally a workman drops in and signs the agreement to abide by the orders of District 48 and goes to work.

At Krippendorf's, this morning, a dozen girls signed the agreement, also half a dozen men.

The manufacturers held a meeting this morning and agreed to permit all members of the Lincoln assembly to go to work. The members of this assembly are makers of men's goods and comprise nearly all the workmen of the following shops: W. F. Thorne & Company, George Hocker and Alter, Forwood & Company. These factories are running.

George Cunningham, master workman of Stonecutters' (Gen. Custer) Assembly, No. 1876, received word at noon from District Master Workman Cavanaugh that he was expelled from the Knights of Labor and his assembly suspended for entertaining a motion contrary to the rules of the order. The motion was against District Assembly No. 48 and in support of Powderly and Garfield assemblies.

The stockholders are ordered to meet at Knights of Labor hall Saturday morning at 10 o'clock by the master workman.

The announcement of the suspension was greeted with laughter by members of the combined executive board, who were congregated at 9 New street.

The manufacturers claim that the members of the Lincoln assembly were loyal to District No. 48 from the start, and therefore took the action they did.

As far as the manufacturers are concerned the shoe lockout is over. They held a meeting late Thursday, and issued the following order:

To Shoemakers and Fitters:

"All employees of shoe factories are requested to report at their various places of work Friday morning at 9 o'clock sharp. For Shoe Manufacturers' association,"

"GEORGE STRIBLEY,
"JOSEPH BLACKER,
"C. KRIPPENDORF,"

"Executive Committee Shoe Manufacturers' association."

A majority of fitters, lasters and stock cutters, however, will not return to work under the present state of affairs. They will wait to hear from National Master Workman Skellington, of District No. 216.

There are about two hundred lasters in the ten factories composing the Manufacturers' association. One hundred and seventy are now members of the local Protective union. They positively refuse to return.

The stock cutters met Thursday evening and passed resolutions against the order of District Assembly No. 48, and pledged themselves to support Garfield Assembly of shoelasters and Hannah Powderly Assembly of shoefitters. They advised their men to remain away from the factories.

Lasters Mutual Protective association organized to-day. The action of seven lasters at work for Blacker was condemned.

Garfield and Powderly assemblies have also reorganized with members loyal to District No. 48. The new organizations have about twenty and forty members respectively.

The opening of Blacker's shop is declared the forerunner of the end of the lockout.

Mr. Goodenough has received a long letter from H. J. Skellington, master workman of the National Shoemakers' Knights of Labor assembly, in which he assumes full control of the Hannah Powderly, Garfield, Jefferson, Custer and Jackson assemblies, and gives his reasons therefor.

Thomas B. Barry, of the general executive board, Knights of Labor, has given his opinion that the suspended assemblies were right, and advised an appeal.

The Reading Strike Nearing an End.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 18.—The engineers and mine merchants in the reading strike are holding a secret session and will hardly adjourn before night. Conversation with the principal men, as they arrive in town, leads to the opinion that positive action will be postponed until a fuller statement of their grievances is presented to the company.

Citizens generally counsel this action and vehemently oppose a strike of engineers as only likely to cause damage and interfere with the settlement of the miners' strike.

The general railroad executive board is in session at Philadelphia, to-day. Chairman Lee sends word here at noon that the whole strike is likely to be declared off and ended within twenty-four hours. The joint committee is in session here also. It likewise claims there is a big change at hand.

Secretary Duffy comes out of the committee room and says: "Can't give you details, but this strike is now to be settled in short order."

Powderly's Decision.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 18.—It was reported about Scranton this morning that National Master Workman Lewis, of the miners' district, and General Master Workman Powderly, who had a conference last night, had decided to declare the Reading miners' strike off.

Mr. Powderly says that the strike was discussed, but that no steps were taken to declare the strike off and that Lewis' principal object in coming here was to see Secretary Hayes, who was in town last night.

Mr. Lewis, however, before leaving Scranton this morning for Philadelphia, said to an acquaintance that he was going to Schuylkill county right off, and would order the miners back to work.

Must Reduce Wages or Close.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 18.—Mayor Hewitt, of New York, in a letter of regret at inability to attend the board of trade dinner last night, said he was sorry to announce that part of the steel works here, in which he is interested, is not profitable, and the disagreeable necessity is imminent of either reducing wages or closing the shop.

VENEZUELAN GOLD FIELDS.

They Are in the Hands of the English—The United States to be Appealed to.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The latest news from Venezuela is to the effect that a crisis has been reached over the long disputed subject of the correct boundary line between that country and British Guiana. Consul General De Silva, the Venezuelan representative in this city, has received the following letter from a high official of his country:

"The invasion of the Venezuelan territory is shameful and barefaced, and will soon reach the territory called Yuruari. In the colonial legislature of Demerara, on the 9th of last November, the construction of a road was proposed which, crossing the rivers Mararuna and Cuyuni, would extend to the boundary line of the colony. During the discussion it was said that the Yuruari district was included within the limits. It was the queen's counselor who so claimed it. An army has been sent to the Yuruari and no resistance on the part of the Venezuelans was then feared, as they numbered only about one hundred, and all the rest of the inhabitants were English. A decree of the governor of Demerara dated the 31st of December, 1883, does not recognize the validity of the contract made with the government of Venezuela for the opening of a railroad between Ciudad Bolivar and Guacipati. Therefore they do not want the Yuruari, the Orinoco and the Amazon, but Ciudad Bolivar.

"The Essequibo river, running from south to north, has since the beginning of this boundary controversy, in 1840, been held by Venezuela to be the correct boundary. In 1810, before the independence of Venezuela, the Essequibo was recognized as the boundary between the Spanish and Dutch Guianas. In 1840 Sir Robert Schomburgk, the British governor of Demerara, guided, as he says, by nature, set up a boundary line one degree west of the Essequibo, and seizing without a shadow of right, according to the Venezuelans, 64,000 square miles of their territory. As between the Essequibo and Schomburgk's boundary the contention has gone on between the two countries for nearly half a century. Nine months ago, and English member of parliament, Hugh Watt, advised that England send a commission to Guiana to establish a boundary still further west, and take in the rich gold mines of Cratel, at the headwaters of the Yuruari, a branch of the Cuyuni which flows westward into the Essequibo. He claimed that this was a natural boundary indicated by Humboldt.

"The Venezuelans were amazed at this proposition, inasmuch as the furthest stretch of British aggression had been marked in the Schomburgk line. They did not think such an idea would be entertained seriously, although the mines of Yuruari were mostly owned by Englishmen, and the English population of the district outnumbered the Venezuelans three to one. The Venezuelan government felt so secure of their territory that it granted a concession for a railroad from Ciudad Bolivar on the Orinoco to Guacipati, the chief town of the Yuruari district. This enterprise precipitated the high-handed action of the British governor in issuing his proclamation mentioned above and prepared to take armed possession of the rich gold fields with their annual product of $3,000,000."

On being interviewed, Consul General De Silva said that the movement was only the preliminary step to further encroachment which would eventually make South America a British India. It gave them absolute possession of the "Dardanelles of the Orinoco," recognized for a century as the key to South America. The only hope of Venezuela lies in the firm adherence of the United States to the Monroe doctrine. The country will be asked by Venezuela, on the basis of this doctrine, to aid it in resisting this latest evidence of British rapacity in dealing with weaker nations.

Ohio's Coal Output for 1887.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 18.—Hon. Thomas Bancroft, state mine inspector, furnishes some wonderfully interesting figures concerning the tremendous output of coal in Ohio during the past year. For the first time in history it now stands as the second coal mining state in the Union. For 1887 it mined 20,000 more bushels than Illinois, the total being 10,300,000. The number of miners and mine hands employed was 2,500 more than in 1886, and twenty-five more days were put in during the year than in 1886. Perry county leads as the greatest producer, with 1,800,000 bushels, or one-fifth of the entire supply; Jackson county next, with 1,200,000, and Athens third, with 1,100,000. Trumbull and Mahoning counties have fallen off, and in these counties the decrease was owing to natural gas. Nearly every other county in which coal is mined has increased. The great increase is accounted for by the demand for Ohio coal in the northwestern states and territories. During the year there were seventy-five accidents and thirty-six deaths among the miners. These facts will be incorporated in Mr. Bancroft's report.

A Sonambulist's Fate.

BOSTON, Feb. 18.—A wealthy citizen of Danvers, John M. Underwood, was found dead near Beaver Brook station, by the roadside. Mr. Underwood, who is a widower, has for some years been afflicted with somnambulism, and when his bed was found empty his family quickly traced him. The dead man was clad only in his night dress, and death had undoubtedly ensued hours before the discovery. It is thought that he left the house at about midnight. The mercury stood at daylight at from 8 to 10 degrees below zero. Mr. Underwood came here from the west, where he has relatives.

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky., Feb. 18.—Hon. J. Kellogg Walter, of Nicholas county, is here for the purpose of breaking a newly made will of his aunt, Mrs. Pernilla Wilmore, who left an estate of $60,000 without remembering him, and leaving out a widowed sister. She left $15,000 to Mrs. Katie Cook, of Lawrenceburg; $3,000 to Mrs. Phil Marks, of Danville, and $5,000 to Maj. Thelk Downing, who managed her estate for twenty-five years. Dr. L. C. Wagner was made administrator of the estate without bond.

ROWAN AFFAIRS.

Attorney General Hardin and Others Testify Before the Investigating Committee.

KIND WORDS FOR JUDGE COLE.

The Rowan County investigation has been in progress at Frankfort the past week, and a large number of witnesses have been examined.

Congressman Caruth, of Louisville, said he had gone to Rowan County at the request of Judge Cole, in July, 1886, and he remained there as prosecutor for about thirty days. He recited the condition of affairs found by him there, and pronounced them most deplorable. He pronounced the condition of the court docket a sham, and from his experience, there was no jury in the world, no matter what Judge gave instructions, could have convicted. Mr. Caruth stated that whereas he went to Rowan County very much prejudiced against Judge Cole, he by reason of his observation while there, changed round completely, and he pronounced that, in his opinion, Judge Cole was as fair, just and honest a Judge as he had ever practiced before. He thought no Judge could have done better under the circumstances in Rowan County than did Judge Cole. He testified that Judge Cole had given him, as prosecutor, his heartiest and most earnest support.

On cross examination Mr. Caruth said he saw no disposition on the part of Judge Cole to interfere with the due process of the law; nor did he see any signs of intimacy between Judge Cole and County Attorney Taylor Young that was detrimental to the proper prosecution of all cases.

Boone Logan was recalled and said he bought twenty new guns before the killing of Tolliver, but had bought none since; had been busy trying to get his guns in, but several of them were out yet. Mr. Logan stated before this he had a twenty-two caliber Winchester. This gun was carried by some one else in the conflict, on June 22nd. He carried a forty-four caliber; that if he had had his little gun, he would have killed Craig Tolliver the first fire, and probably two others. His forty-four caliber shot too high; he found that out by testing it afterward.

Mr. Logan stated that when Judge Cole permitted objections to be made to the grand jurors, he required that the objection should be made in writing, and should state a legal reason for objections, except in cases where Taylor Young had objection, in that event a verbal objection was all the court required.

Captain Samuel McKee, of Louisville, testified to having been present in Judge Cole's court at the February term, 1886, and at other terms; that the Judge impressed him in his charge to the grand jurors, and in his whole conduct, on and off the bench, as a most earnest, conscientious and just Judge.

Captain W. B. Dearing, of Flemingsburg, gave testimony in support of Cole as an excellent and honest Judge. Judge Jas. B. Harbison, of Flemingsburg, also gave Judge Cole a most excellent judicial character. Mr. Harbison stated, in order to give his testimony its due weight, that during a long term of years he and Judge Cole had been political enemies in the lines of the same party; his only criticism on Judge Cole was that he had worked his lawyers rather hard to catch up with as overcrowded docket, and he was rather too much inclined to push prosecution.

Attorney General Hardin was called and the burden of his evidence was that affairs were as rotten in Rowan as it was possible, and that the friends of the murderers had things so completely under their power that conviction was found impossible. He believed that the whole machinery of the court was being manipulated by these men for their own protection in their outrages against life and law. It was shown that at the time he was at Morehead, July, 1885, Judge Cole was absent, by reason of illness. In reply to a question, General Hardin stated that he thought if Judge Cole had appreciated the state of affairs, he could, in a great measure, have corrected these troubles; that it was always within the power of the Circuit Judge to remove an inefficient, or partisan Sheriff, or other officer. He could remove them and reorganize his court. Mr. Hardin said from his observation he judged that 90 per cent. of the Rowan people are inclined to be peaceable and law-abiding, but they were, in the main, illiterate, and had been subjugated and intimidated by the vicious elements of the population.

Messrs. L. W. Robertson and L. W. Galbraith, of this city, testified of Judge Cole's high character as a man and his reign as a Judge, especially in criminal cases. W. W. Ball, County Court Clerk, testified as to the high esteem in which Judge Cole was held in this district and referred to the fact that he had been re-elected without opposition.

T. H. Painter, a Greenup attorney, who has practiced before Judge Cole extensively, described him as a model man, a church member, a man who neither smoked, chewed or drank. Above all things, he had shown himself a just Judge.

County Judge Coons added his quota of praise to the reputation of Judge Cole.

Major W. R. Kinney, of Louisville, went to Rowan to represent the Commonwealth under Governor Knott and found partisan feeling on the part of Judge George T. Halbert, who presided. The secrets of the grand jury room were betrayed by the County Attorney. Major Kinney explained the case to the Judge and was informed the grand jury had reconsidered and would not indict. Both Judge and Commonwealth Attorney acted in bad faith in securing the surrender of Cook Humphrey. Had told him that $1,500 bond would be required, and demanded $6,500 when Humphrey appeared in court. Most of the grand jurors were friends of the Tollivers. Indictments against the Tollivers would not hold water. No convictions were secured while he was there. He understood that the court was organized to punish the Martins, and acquit the Tollivers. He believed all he had heard about the Rowan County troubles after having seen the condition of the court and county officials.

The above is taken from specials to the Louisville papers.

Miss Pigg, of Lawrence Creek, Ky., has been the guest of Miss Anna Hudson this week. For the best coal, call on S. M. Hudson & Son, office and yard, Lecest street, Aberdeen, O.

Several of the K. of P. order attended the funeral of Grauville Clement in Maysville Friday.

Mrs. Gus Collins and child, accompanied by her brother, Wm. Small, were the guests of relatives here Thursday.

The young folks top at Oddfellows Hall Thursday evening was an enjoyable affair for those who participated.

The Ohio Valley Mill is running on schedule time again. This mill is fast gaining the reputation of making the best flour in Ohio. This is no paid-for puff, purely voluntary, as an appreciation of the man. To read some newspapers you would imagine that "Squire Newley" was a very odd of a man, which he is not. Far from it. Everybody here in Aberdeen knows that "Squire" is a clever, courteous gentleman, always aiding worthy enterprises and spending his income quite liberally here at home. A man of enterprise who adds to his community rather than detracts. The "Squire" is a candidate for reelection before the Democratic primary, March 24th, and should receive the united support of all good people. NONPARIEL.

SAVED HIS LEG!

SCROFULA

OF THE

BONE CURED!

LITHONIA, Oa., August 11, 1887.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.: Gentlemen—I have been afflicted with scrofula of the leg ever since I was a child, the disease undoubtedly being hereditary, as my mother suffered from scrofula symptoms. As I lived to manhood my affliction increased until the malady became harassing and painful beyond the power of words to describe. My right leg particularly became fearfully involved, the left leg being less painfully affected. Finally, about fourteen years ago, the ulcers on my right leg had eaten through the flesh into the bone. In order to save my life the doctors determined the offensive running began the knee. The operation was successfully performed by Dr. H. V. M. Miller, of Atlanta, and Dr. W. P. Bond, of Lithonia. But the loss of my leg gave me only temporary relief. The poison was still in my system and continued to show itself again. In a short time after large ulcers appeared on my left leg, covering it from the knee to the instep. Frequently while at work I could be heard by the blood which oozed from the huge ulcers, and the sores and retching holes were so offensive that my fellow-workmen could not stand the stench and would move away from me.

Last winter I was persuaded to try S. S. S. As a last effort I consented to do so, and about seven months ago I began taking the Specific. I soon began to feel the good effects of the medicine, the offensive running began to grow less and less and finally ceased, the ulcers healed, my flesh became firm and sound, and I was able to stand on my feet. I have now gained twenty-five pounds, and am as hale and stout a man of my age as there is in the region. I am seventy-one years old, but feel now younger and stronger than I did when I was twenty-five. I weigh about 170 pounds. Nothing is to be seen of the terrible disease, or to remind me of the torture I suffered for so many years, except the scars of the perfectly healed ulcers. I want the world to know of the almost miraculous cure effected on me by S. S. S., and I call upon those who wish to know the particulars directly from me to write, and I will consider it a pleasure as well as a duty to answer their letters. I refer to Dr. W. P. Bond, of Lithonia, as the truth of my statement. Very gratefully yours, H. DRAKE.

Our Prices Will Now Be Lower Than Ever!

All prices that were "wounded" before have been killed. We have shown no quarters, but have fired an indiscriminate broadside into every department, mowing down the prices to such an extent that you can now buy with cents and nickles that which before cost dimes and dollars. Heretofore we stuck the knife in as far as the hilt; this week we strike the hilt to the heart. This is your great opportunity, and you will have a lifetime of regrets if you fail to take advantage of it. We are fully determined to make a clean sweep of everything, and your most vivid imagination can not picture the havoc in prices we have made. You will notice that our terrible war on prices have run all competitors from the field; and now that we really have a monopoly we become public benefactors by continuing to reduce prices instead of advancing them, as is so often done under similar circumstances.

Constable Bland, of Sardis, went along as a guard.

AN Enthusiastic Reception.
Theater-goers who remained away from the opera house last evening missed one of the very best entertainments given in Maysville this season. Miss Lillian Lewis and company appeared in the drama "Lena Despard," and scored a decided success.

It was the first appearance of this brilliant and fascinating actress in this city, and none but a thorough artist could have won the heart of her audience as quickly as she did on this occasion. Her rendition of the character of Lena Despard, first as the scheming and polished adventuress and then as the loving, faithful woman, was so realistic—her acting so true—that it was received with enthusiastic applause. At the close of the first act she was called before the curtain and in the second and third acts she completely won the hearts of her audience. Her support was splendid throughout, and the universal verdict is that the entertainment was one of the best given here this season.

Miss Lewis will appear this afternoon as "Cora, the Creole," in "Article 47," a character in which she has made a great reputation. To-night she will appear in "The New Magdalen," a play in which the New York Mirror says she has met with universal praise.

The audience last night was not as large as Miss Lewis and her excellent company deserved. They should have a crowded house to-night.

MR. O'BRIEN'S SPEECH IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

Is a Surprise to All—It Was Replete With Oratory and Effectiveness—Dr. Mackenzie Talks on the Crown Prince's Illness. Press Comments on the Treaty—Notes.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Mr. William O'Brien's speech in the house of commons last night, his first parliamentary utterance since his release from Tullamore jail, was in view of their circumstance, one of the most remarkable speeches that has been delivered in the house for many years and commanded the closest attention of all present.

From the moment it became known through Mr. O'Brien's adjournment of the debate on Wednesday night that he would participate in the discussion of the address on the following night men of all parties, even his own, began speculating upon the degree of invective in which he would indulge in expressing his opinion of Mr. Balfour and his questionable methods of administering the coercion act. To the surprise of all, however, and to the manifest relief of Mr. Balfour, he addressed the house in a spirit of moderation and the government in a spirit of magnanimity that was vastly more effective than the most violent denunciation could have been, notwithstanding the great provocation he had for indulgence in that style of oratory and argument.

There was something really grand in the declaration of the man whom the government, in the person of the nephew of the premier, had consigned to prison, and having done so, gone out of its way to insult and humiliate that he felt no wound or sense of degradation because of his imprisonment, and by that declaration he completely disarmed the man who had prepared speeches based upon the assumption that he would denounce everybody connected with his arrest, trial and incarceration.

It is true Mr. O'Brien handled the government's Irish policy without gloves and made statements concerning its failure to impair the work of the National league and the operation of the plan of campaign, which Mr. Balfour, who will speak in reply, will find it hard to controvert, but the general tone of the speech was so moderate as to elicit from several Liberal members expressions of wonder that the man, who had been so outrageously treated, could exercise the forbearance he showed.

The Daily News says: "Few speeches ever produced such an effect on the house of commons as that of Mr. O'Brien's last night. His display of wondrous magnanimity will certainly appeal with irresistible force to the English people. The Tories are unable to complain of any bitterness in his utterances, though the occasion abundantly justified such indulgence."

Exact Diagnosis Impossible.

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—The Reichsanzeiger publishes the text of Dr. Mackenzie's report. In concluding, Dr. Mackenzie says: "The clinical symptoms have at all times been compatible with those of non-malignant disease, and the results of microscopic examination have agreed with this view. Although in nearly every case of disease of the larynx it is possible to make an exact diagnosis of the nature of the complaint at the first examination, there are some very rare cases in which the character of the disease can be determined only from its progress. The crown prince's malady belongs to the category of doubtful cases, so that at the present moment medical science does not permit me to affirm that any disease exists other than chronic inflammation of the larynx, combined with perichondritis."

The Crown Prince Passed a Good Night.

To-day he is free from headache or fever. He arose this morning, but remains in his room.

Paris Notes.

PARIS, Feb. 18.—The deputies yesterday defeated the government by rejecting Dreyfus' amendment transferring the funds of the treasurer and paymaster general to the Bank of France.

The chamber afterward, despite Tirard's protests, resolved to consider Soubeyran's amendment reducing the interest on the floating debt by 3,000,000 francs.

The deputies also voted to take into consideration the measure providing for reductions in the salaries of treasury paymasters. Premier Tirard thereupon left the chamber, declaring that he would resign.

It is not thought that the defeat of the government in the chamber of deputies will lead to a cabinet crisis. The chamber, it is believed will reconsider its vote, and settle the points at issue amicably.

Latest reports deny that Tirard has resigned.

Press Comments on the Fisheries Treaty.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Daily News says the fisheries treaty is a one-sided agreement. Canada made concessions to the American government and the treaty therefore hardly contains promise of a durable settlement. If, however, the treaty commends itself to Canada, it will be approved here.

The Times says it is a triumph for Mr. Chamberlain's diplomatic strike that he has been able to reconcile conflicting interests so far in the teeth of a rancorous and unscrupulous opposition.

An Irish Infernal Machine.

DUBLIN, Feb. 18.—A packet of gunpowder attached to a leaden ball was thrown into the house of Inspector Kelly, at Skibbereen, to-day. The explosion which followed totally demolished the furniture and partly wrecked the building. The inmates barely escaped suffocation from the fumes of the explosion.

The Russians Irritated.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 18.—The publication of the Austro-German treaty has greatly irritated Russians of all classes in the interior of the empire, and Bismarck's speech on the military bill aggravates the feeling.

The Rumors Well Founded.

VIENNA, Feb. 18.—The Pesther Lloyd states that rumors of a defensive alliance of Belgium and Holland with Germany are well founded.

Duckworth's Railroad Case.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 18.—The appeal of George K. Duckworth in receivership case against the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad, was argued before the supreme court this morning. The legality of John Vanderveer's action in granting the application for a receiver is to be decided. Isaac Jordan, John Kumler, of Toledo; C. H. Scribner, of Cleveland, and R. A. Harrison, of Columbus, represented Duckworth, and Lawrence Maxwell and Col. Milliken, of Hamilton, are caring for the railroad's interests. The printed records and briefs comprise nearly 1,000 printed pages. All this costs money and lots of it. Duckworth is going to a good deal of expense to push the suit. One hour and a half was allowed each side for argument.

Irish, editor of the Alta Californian and one of the leading Democrats of that country, is in the city as the representative of the Democratic state club of California to work for the selection of San Francisco as its place for holding the next Democratic National convention. Col. Irish, in answer to an inquiry as to what the prospects were for the selection of the city of the Golden Gate, said: "Splendid, just splendid. I have received favorable replies from twenty members of the National committee, and we only need twenty-four votes to get the convention."
